Maine Transportation Directory
A guide for using Maine’s public transportation services
Maine Transit Association

Maine Transit Association (MTA) is a professional association providing leadership, resources, support, and technical assistance to transit agencies throughout Maine. Our members provide a variety of services including regularly scheduled local and inter-city bus service, inter-city commuter programs, and ferry service. When we speak of “transit,” we are referring to transportation services available to the general public. In addition to over the road services, our membership includes Casco Bay Island Transit District, also known as Casco Bay Lines, which provides year-round service to six islands in Casco Bay. These services are essential to those without regular access to transportation, such as seniors and the disabled.

For the latest information on fares, cashless payment options, routes and other transit provider information please visit the provider’s website.
Bus Mode • A transit mode comprised of rubber-tired passenger vehicles operating on fixed routes and schedules over roadways. Vehicles are powered by:
• Diesel
• Gasoline
• Battery
• Alternative fuel engines

Complementary Paratransit Services • Transportation service required by the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) for individuals with disabilities who are unable to use fixed route transportation systems. This service must be comparable to the level of service provided to individuals without disabilities who use the fixed route system and meet the requirements specified in Sections 37.123-137.133 of Transportation Services for Individuals with Disabilities (Part 37), Code of Federal Regulations, Title 49, Volume 1. The complementary services must be origin-to-destination service (demand response (DR)) or on-call demand response (DR) service to an accessible fixed route where such service enables the individual to use the fixed route bus (MB) system for his or her trip. Service must be provided in a corridor ¼ of a mile on either side of the bus routes.

Commuter Bus • Local fixed-route bus transportation primarily connecting outlying areas with a central city. Characterized by a motorcoach (aka over-the-road bus), multiple trip tickets, multiple stops in outlying areas, limited stops in the central city, and at least five miles of closed-door service.

Demand Response • A transit mode comprised of passenger cars, vans or small buses operating in response to calls from passengers or their agents to the transit operator, who then dispatches a vehicle to pick up the passengers and transport them to their destinations. A demand response (DR) operation is characterized by the following:

a — The vehicles do not operate over a fixed route or on a fixed schedule except, perhaps, on a temporary basis to satisfy a special need, and b — Typically, the vehicle may be dispatched to pick up several passengers at different pick-up points before taking them to their respective destinations and may even be interrupted en route to these destinations to pick up other passengers. The following types of operations fall under the above definitions provided they are not on a scheduled fixed route basis:

• Many origins to many destinations
• Many origins to one destination
• One origin to many destinations
• One origin to one destination

Ferryboat • A transit mode comprised of vessels carrying passengers, and sometimes vehicles and cargo, over a body of water. Intercity ferryboat service is excluded, except for that portion of such service that is operated by or under contract with a public transit agency for predominantly commuter services. Predominantly commuter service means that for any given trip segment (i.e., distance between any two piers), more than 50 percent of the average daily ridership travels on the ferryboat on the same day.

Fixed Route Services • Services provided on a repetitive, fixed schedule basis along a specific route with vehicles stopping to pick up and deliver passengers to specific locations; each fixed route trip serves the same origins and destinations, such as rail and bus.

Flex Route Service • Transit service that operates along a fixed alignment or path at generally fixed times, but may deviate from the route alignment to collect or drop off passengers who have requested the deviation.

Volunteer Drivers • Individuals who drive vehicles in revenue service to transport passengers for the transit provider but are not employees of the transit provider and are not compensated for their labor.
